KSJS Off the Air—No Available Funds

By SHERRY BROWN

The FM radio dial, 90.7 is the broadcasting frequency for KSJS, San Jose State's radio station.

KSJS broadcasts have been absent from 90.7 on the dial since summer 1964.

The question arises... why? In 1962, the state obtained a license from the Federal Communications Commission for San Jose State's educational and student service radio station.

In February, 1962, KSJS joined

State College ASB Leaders Meet Here

ASB presidents of the 16 state colleges began arriving in San Jose this morning for the weekend conference of California State College Student President's Association, (CSCSPA).

Delegates and Bob Pisano, ASB president and CSCSPA president, will assemble at the Hyatt House hotel all afternoon for organizational and committee meetings.

The first general session of the conference tonight is expected to center around several controversial issues. Debate over a health services proposal for the state colleges may be one of the most explosive issues.

The ASB chief executives are also expected to debate whether or not to take a stand on Proposition 14, the controversial initiative to repeal the Rumford "Fair Housing" act.

CSCSPA will meet at SJS all day Saturday and will conclude at noon Sunday.

Daylight Theft Nets Pennies

An SJS professor had his piggy bank broken and his pennies stolen Wednesday morning.

Dr. Russell M. Harrison, associate professor of music, was the victim of a thief who broke into the professor's home at 2354 Fairglan Drive.

The thief entered through a sliding glass door, found the piggy bank and broke it. He took about 30 pennies and replaced the larger pieces of the piggy bank.

The thief then went to Dr. Harrison's sons' room and took several dollars which one of his sons was saving.

During his search the thief damaged a 400-year-old antique desk when he pried it open.

President Clark Speaks Monday Before AAUP

The SJS chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) will feature SJS President Robert Clark as guest speaker at its first meeting of the semester Monday.

President Clark will give an informal speech in Cafeteria rooms A and B. The meeting will begin at noon.

Earlier this week, President and Mrs. Clark attended the Student-Campus Teachers Association, (S-CTA), steak barbecue.

Future AAUP speakers will include Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, and Prof. Robert Smith, formerly dean of education at San Francisco State College.

The S-CTA program for Tuesday will feature Charles Maxwell, speaking on S-CTA's role in the California Teachers Association. The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. in ED100.

Class Dropping Time

TOO MANY UNITS—Sandy Murphy, freshman medical technology major, who apparently registered for too many classes, is shown reminding SJS students that today is the last day to add or drop a class from their official study lists. Barring complicated petition procedures, all classes are final after today.

IFC Committees Eliminated; Greek Week Still Planned

Greek Week should be eliminated from the activities of SJS fraternities and sororities.

A proposal to this effect brought on long discussion at Wednesday night's meeting of the Inter-Fraternal Council (IFC). By the end of the discussion, however, it was decided that with better organization Greek Week could become more successful than it has been in the past and the proposal was defeated.

Several of IFC's standing committees were done away with, however, at the meeting after their ineffectiveness was pointed out by the officers of the council. These committees were the social chairman's committee, cultural committee, pledge training committee, finance committee, scholarship committee and nominating committee. The functions of these committees will be taken over by a community relations committee headed by a public relations chairman, which will be formed at a later date.

The IFC budget for 1964-65,

Frosh Compete For Council Seats

The largest number of freshmen in SJS history will be competing for the four freshmen representative seats open on Student Council.

Twenty-two freshmen will have their names placed on the ballot for next Wednesday's and Thursday's election. Last year 16 freshmen ran for the four posts.

There will be a special assembly for all freshmen to hear the 22 candidates give campaign speeches on Monday at 3:30 p.m. in Concert Hall.

Ken Lane, Election Board chairman, urges all freshmen to attend the assembly and to hear the candidates' speeches.

Over one-fifth of council voting power will be at stake in this special election. There are 16 class representatives and two graduate posts in council.

For the winners, this election will represent a giant step toward establishing a base for a "career" in ASB government.

The four freshmen council seats are also the only source of elective freshman representation in ASB government since council abolished class government last year.

which totals $7,597.10, was presented to council by Treasurer Bruce MacDonald and was unanimously approved.

In other business Dave Remington was appointed to head a committee on rush revision and IFC President Jim Niven called for complete support of Proposition 2 by IFC "because it will help San Jose State as a whole."

Dr. George Kline Speaks Today On Russian Morals

Dr. George L. Kline, Bryn Mawr College professor of philosophy and Russian, will discuss "The Moral Implication of Recent Soviet Legislation" this morning at 11:30 in TH55. The Philosophy Department and the College Lecture Committee are sponsoring the speech.

Dr. Kline has been called "a leading interpreter of Russian philosophy" by SJS associate professor of philosophy Eugene Freeman. Dr. Kline was the only non-European invited to international conferences on Marxism-Leninism in Cologne, Germany, in 1961 and Berlin in 1962.

He has visited the Soviet Union three times, in 1956, 1957 and 1960. On his last visit, Dr. Kline traveled within the USSR for six weeks by private car.

Dr. Kline earned his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1950. His visit to SJS is in conjunction with a three-day conference on Marxism at Stanford.

SNCC Worker To Speak Sunday

Lee Garrett, junior, Santa Clara, will speak this Sunday, 4:30 p.m., at the First Christian Church, 80 S. Fifth St., about his experiences in Mississippi this summer as part of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, (SNCC), project.

Garrett will also explain how interested students may get involved in SNCC. The meeting is open to all students and is sponsored by the United Campus Christian Ministry. A light supper can be obtained for 35 cents.

President Explains College Policy

'Political Fund Soliciting Ban Will Not Affect Spartan Daily'

By AL MASON

The controversial ban on political funds solicitation on college campuses, based on restrictions imposed by the California State constitution, will not affect the right of the Spartan Daily to accept political advertisements, SJS President Robert D. Clark, told the Spartan Daily yesterday afternoon.

The controversy on this campus was touched off Wednesday when the implications of an 8-page memorandum to the college administration from Norman L. Epstein, chief counsel for the California State College Board of Trustees, were reported.

SJS Business Manager Glen E. Guttormsen sent a memo to Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism and Advertising Department, interpreting Epstein's letter to mean that the Spartan Daily should not accept political advertisements on behalf of the Proposition 2 campaign.

"I have talked with Mr. Epstein," said President Clark, "and he says there is a misunderstanding of his memorandum." President Clark explained that there would be no new limitations on Spartan Daily advertising.

PROPOSITION 2

The Epstein memorandum, declared President Clark, was written "to define the rights and limitations of faculty and employees in dealing with Proposition 2." It was "not prepared for the students," he said.

President Clark noted that the persons restricted under the terms of the memorandum were to engage only in the distribution of factual information regarding political issues and were not to engage in "aggressive advocacy" of one side or the other. He made the statements with specific reference to Proposition 2.

Proposition 2 is the state constitution bond issue on the November ballot which includes the allocation of nearly $13 million for construction of new buildings and expansion at SJS.

POLITICAL CLUBS

One of the most controversial implications of the Epstein memorandum is that restrictions may be placed on campus political clubs at SJS. The memorandum states, according to Guttormsen, "Contributions of money or property must not be made or solicited on State property, including college campuses."

President Clark said he had seen "no detailed report" as to whether the State regulations would affect SJS student activities and refused to speculate on the matter.

Dale Spady, vice chairman of the Student Peace Union (SPU), an active political, pacifist group on campus, said he feared the memorandum may mean students "may not be able to advocate a candidate or a proposition or solicit funds."

Disputes Still Rage Between Students, Cal Administration

BERKELEY (UPI)—Differences between certain student groups and the University of California administration concerning on-campus political activity were far from settled today.

The same disputes that produced last week's massive demonstrations sent student representatives storming out of a meeting with a committee named by the administration Wednesday.

The students complained that the committee appointed by the administration was named unilaterally and was only a study group. The students had hoped that they would have equal representation on a committee which would mediate the dispute.

The school's ban on on-campus political activity last week resulted in the suspension of eight students and a demonstration by some 4000 persons. Possible trouble was averted when administration and student leaders announced a compromise program late Friday.

The student leaders said they would have liked to have heard the thoughts of the administration committee Wednesday, but that they felt that to talk with it would have implied recognition.

The students said no further demonstrations were planned at present.

Schwarz Blasts Reds In CACC Speech

"Broadcasting to Communist nations that Communism is bad is like broadcasting to San Quentin that prison is bad. What they really want is some advice on how to get out," Dr. Fred Schwarz, president of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade (CACC), told a near-capacity crowd of students and local citizens at last night's anti-Communism rally in the Men's Gym.

Although touching on the problem of existing Communist nations, Dr. Schwarz explained that his cause was primarily one of prevention. "I make no pretense of having a treatment for Communism once it is in power," said Dr. Schwarz in answer to a question about what should be done in Southeast Asia.

Enrollment Totals Soar At SJS

San Jose State leads the 17 California state colleges in total enrollment with 20,674 student registration fees paid as of Oct. 5, according to Stanford R. Bohne, college accounting officer.

By the time of registration an estimated 1,000 to 1,200 lower division students and 400 to 600 upper division and graduate students had been turned away according to Dr. Ralph R. Cumming, associate dean of students, admissions and records.

The lower division restriction stems from requirements placed on SJS by the California State College Board of Trustees in accordance with the California Master Plan, which limited lower division transfer and freshman students to a ceiling of 3,700.

The upper division and graduate students could not register because they failed to meet the college registration deadline of July 1 and August 15.

The Master Plan calls for an eventual ratio of 40 per cent lower division and 60 per cent upper division and graduate students.

SJS fall 1963 enrollment was 19,450 students, giving SJS an increase of 1,049 this year. Even with the limit of lower division students SJS out ranks California State College at Los Angeles with 824 students. They have an enrollment of 19,850 students.

THIS COULD BE YOU!—Jim Hindmarch, airborne junior Business major, engages in one of many activities set for Saturday's "Weekend Co-Rec," held in PER building and the Women's Gym, 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Admission is free to all ASB card holders.

Student Body Leaders Here for Weekend

The elected leaders of the more than 300,000 California State College students will meet this weekend on the SJS campus.

The sixteen student body leaders who make up the CSCSPA (California State College Student President's Association) begin arriving today to consider issues of importance to the State College students.

Paramount issue in this, the first monthly meeting of the organization, possibility of the legislature instituting a new student health plan which would raise student fees by $15 to $20.

There are other issues and items of interest which the organization must consider this weekend. The student leaders will undoubtedly be kept busy.

Spartan Daily would like to extend a welcome to ASB heads from the various campuses and hope they enjoy their visit to SJS.

To Bob Pisano, SJS ASB president and president of CSCSPA and his colleagues, Spartan Daily wish a rewarding and productive session.

Ad Fraternity Holds Largest First Meet

Oct. 7 Alpha Delta Sigma had one of its largest first meeting turnouts in its history at San Jose State. A.D.S., the national advertising fraternity on campus, started off the semester with an overflow crowd in the advertising department. New members were awarded their pins, membership cards, and certificate.

A film (in color) on Japanese electric signs at night was shown. The film was loaned to A.D.S. by Foster and Kleiser outdoor advertising. Some of this semester's activities were discussed which included: tours of Lucky Lager and Falstaff brewery, tours of agencies and media in San Francisco, regional convention at the University of Colorado and National convention in Miami Beach, and luncheons in San Francisco with the alumni chapter.

Five Cadets Honored Yesterday

Five AFROTC cadets were honored yesterday afternoon by being designated "Distinguished Air Force ROTC Cadets."

The five honored cadets are: Robert A. Gillham, Jr., commander, 45th AFROTC Cadet Group; Jerry G. Klinko, commander, Flight D; Martin R. McAulay, commander, Squadron 1; Stephen J. Savage, inspector, cadet group, and Benjie J. Wilson, commander, Staffelbach Squadron, Arnold Air Society.

The letters designating these cadets as "Distinguished Air Force ROTC Cadets" were presented to them at the leadership laboratory, with the rest of the cadet group looking on. Presenting the letters was Major J. F. Tarply, professor of Air Science.

As a "Distinguished AFROTC Cadet" the five, all seniors in their fourth year of AFROTC, have the opportunity to graduate and enter the Air Force as "Distinguished Air Force ROTC Graduates." With this designation they will have an opportunity to receive their regular Air Force commission faster than the usual cadet. They will have many opportunities that the regular cadet will not.

The designations are given on the basis of outstanding scholarship and leadership abilities exhibited in and outside of the AFROTC program.

Mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers: Beware!

If you are of that group whose political beliefs are left of the right and don't wish your children or brothers and sisters to be influenced by literature from the "other faction," take note.

Censorship of their comic books and 45 rpm records should begin immediately; in fact, it may be too late. The reason—certain people important in the entertainment field have backed the man from Arizona for the presidency.

For example—Walt Disney. This man who has built an empire around the fantasy-world of a talking mouse and duck, continues to dwell in this world and is one of the backers of THAT man. Shocking, isn't it?

Imagine what this could lead to. Comic books could be organs of propaganda—animated cartoons could slowly begin to influence our youngsters. Before you know it, the citizens of tomorrow will begin to believe in ideals presented in this seemingly harmless form of entertainment.

Personally, I always thought it was a little suspicious that Minnie Mouse never dated Donald Duck and Daisy never got asked out by Mickey—sort of subliminal racism. And now I see that seemingly innocent tale of the Three Little Pigs for what it really was. Big Wolf represented Federal Government, no doubt, and the Pigs were States. The Pigs (S), fighting to keep their homes intact lost in the beginning but overcame the Wolf (FG) in the end.

We could go on and on with such morbid examples. The sad thing is that by the time parents of this nation wake up to what Uncle Walt is REALLY trying to do, it may be too late.

Another character I used to admire is Pat Boone. He was considered the clean-cut All-American boy. Now I have discovered his problem—he too is a backer of THAT man.

His songs seemed innocent enough (even though I now see that "Friendly Persuasion" was sold under false pretenses) but remember—he only wore WHITE bucks.

Before further infiltration of THAT faction continues, let us keep on our toes. You never can tell what devious means THEY will use to overcome us.

Thrust and Parry

Students' Antics Rile Mrs. D'Anna

My husband and I have lived on S. Ninth Street for 16 years. We have never contacted the campus newspaper before concerning trouble we have had due to the thoughtless actions of some SJS students. Now, we feel the time has come to speak out in defense of our own property.

Saturday night, some students from your college took two lanterns from in front of our house. We have had these lanterns for 25 years. We are extremely upset about this and we hope such action is not typical of the SJS student body as a whole.

I am therefore asking that the following be directed to those involved in this unfortunate mishap:

You hoodlums, you stole my two lanterns in front of my sidewalk, which was being repaired so you would not trip or fall. Please return them and no questions will be asked.

Our street is becoming a garbage dump with all your beer cans and trash. If you haven't any sense of right and wrong, drop out of college and go dig ditches.

Mrs. Josephine D'Anna

Student Answers Bechtell's Letter

Editor:

Although I am not a member of the clergy I would like to reply to Bob Bechtell's letter in favor of Proposition 14.

I agree with Bechtell in that we, in America, should keep the freedom to choose to be immoral if we so desire. But if someone decides to be immoral and commit an act which transgresses the rights of others then government must, to maintain order, restrain that person. Such is the case with theft, rape and murder. The individual who encroaches on the rights of others must be restrained. So it is with the discriminatory housing; an individual who will not rent or sell to one particular type of person, because of something beyond that person's control, is unfairly excluding that person. The individual is transgressing that person's right to equal consideration on merit.

It seems to me, from those with whom I have spoken, that most people who want to repeal the Rumford Act (yes on Prop. 14) are so not because they fear legislated morality, which is the basis for most of our criminal laws. Rather those for Proposition 14 believe that one has the right to be a god on a piece of land he owns. These people believe that this right comes before the right of an individual to be treated equally on his merit as a person and contributor to society. (Obviously the first stand is a selling point for realtors and their position is natural.)

The question is, not whether we should have laws punishing transgressors of other's rights (as all laws are), but rather, is a bigot a transgressor of the rights of others.

LYCURGUS Helped Promote Initial Olympic Games

By DAVE PAYNE
Daily Sports Editor

The Olympic Games will open in Tokyo tomorrow.

This will be the 18th modern times meeting between countries competing to find out who holds the world's amateur sports supremacy.

The first modern day games were held in Athens in 1896. World Wars I and II interrupted the Games in 1914, '40, and '44. They were started again in London, 1948.

There is some confusion as to how the Games originated over two thousand years ago. But the story of the Games, dating back from 776 B.C., has been rather well preserved.

Traditionally, they began 776 years before the birth of Christ. The Games are named after the athletic contests held in ancient Greece at Olympia.

They were held every four years, alternately in August and September, and continued almost without interruption until terminated in A.D. 394 by Theodosius, Roman Emperor of the East.

Cleosthenes, King of Pisa; Lycurgus, King of Sparta; and Iphitus, King of Elis, are supposed to have promoted the first Olympic Games in 776 B.C.

On a discus, uncovered centuries later, were inscribed the laws that were to govern the Games and under them appeared the names of Lycurgus and Iphitus. The discus was a symbol of mighty muscles in that era. The man who could throw the discus farthest was ranked as the greatest athlete.

The Games were a religious festival in honor of Zeus, the father of the Greek Gods, and religious ritual and sacrifices marked each stage of the proceedings.

The Games also afforded the opportunity for a fair, where food and wine and all manner of goods were offered for sale, where acrobats, fortune-tellers, jugglers, and conjurers performed, and where orators and authors found an audience.

Ambassadors were sent out before each meeting to declare a truce to all wars for the month of the festival (that might not be such a bad idea today) and to invite all freeborn Greeks to participate.

The competitors were chosen by local trials and were required to complete 10 months' strict training. They were expected to arrive in time for final training in Olympia.

NEXT WEEK: The column will continue with events that took place during the ancient Game's five days.

Dons Entertain Spartan Booters

San Jose State's soccer team embarks on a crucial three-game road trip tomorrow afternoon when it travels to University of San Francisco to meet the Dons in a league encounter.

Kickoff time is 12:30 for the Northern California Intercollegiate match.

The Spartans, 1-0 in league, will also meet Cal and San Francisco State away from home before returning to San Jose Saturday, Oct. 24, to face USF at Spartan Stadium.

"If we can win two out of three games we'll be in real good shape," says coach Julie Menendez about his team's chances for the championship.

USF, one of the title favorites, is 1-1 in league play. It clobbered Cal 7-0 Tuesday after losing to a Stanford squad last week.

The Dons have returning most of last year's team, which went to the NCAA play-offs, and have added some fine sophomores.

SJS will counter with its fine veteran club headed by senior co-captains Al Korbus and Eflok Akpan.

Water Poloists Face UOP

The Spartan water polo team, which suffered a 22-15 loss to the Olympic Club Wednesday, but is still undefeated in collegiate competition, will battle the University of Pacific today at 8:30 p.m. in the Spartan Pool.

The Spartababes, who tied the OC reserves 8-8, play the College of San Mateo in the preliminary at 7:30 p.m.

The UOP varsity team includes two local products: Jim MacKenzie, was an All-American in water polo and swimming at Menlo-Atherton High School. Ralph Purdy started in water polo at James Lick High School in San Jose.

The Spartans loss to the OC

Wednesday does not count on the collegiate record because the OC is a professional team. Walton thought the experience gained in the loss would perhaps give the Spartans the impetus they needed in their quest for the national championship.

Walton said his team played its worst defensive game of the season, but performed admirably offensively.

Spartababes Face Injuns Tomorrow

Coach John Webb's frosh football team opens its seven-game schedule tomorrow when the Spartababes battle Stanford's yearlings in Stanford Stadium.

Game time is 10 a.m. for the Stanford-Rice preliminary.

"Stanford has the best squad its ever had," says Webb, "but there's no one on our schedule we can't beat if the boys work."

Harriers Enter Capitol Invitational

"We have a big hurdle approaching. If we get over this hurdle, then all the others will fall in our path."

This was the opinion of cross-country Coach Merv Smith, whose harriers compete in the Sacramento Invitational tomorrow.

Stanford, expected to offer the most competition, has its entire team back and is bolstered by several stars from last year's freshman team. The Spartans have lost four of last year's five national champion team members.

The Spartans will run even with Stanford for the first two miles of the 3.5 mile course. At the two mile mark, the entire team will hopefully increase the pace.

Last year, portions of the course were marked incorrectly. The Spartans had to run 150 extra yards, but still defeated Stanford.

Smith has two goals for the meet: The first goal is to beat Stanford, and the second is to have less than a minute separation between the Spartans' first and fifth men.
